RJM was hired by DeWitt Mackall Crounse & Moore to remodel two full floors within the AT&T Tower in downtown Minneapolis.

The law office build out included intricate casework detailing, an internal staircase with glass rails, and demountable office fronts throughout. Given long lead times of the office fronts, a high level of coordination was required in building to precise field dimensions. The expedited construction schedule was completed two weeks before the firm moved in, allowing ample time for the demountable furniture installation.
