Hmong College Prep Academy (HCPA) is a charter school that retrofitted a former health club into an educational facility.

As their needs grew, RJM was hired to remodel the unused and under-utilized spaces of the charter school over three carefully planned phases. Classrooms were created, storage and workout spaces were added to the gym and the existing high school was remodeled. The completed project includes classrooms, offices, two gymnasiums, lunchroom, technology lab, library, and a state-of-the-art performing arts theater with seating for nearly 500 people.
