RJM CONSTRUCTION

Twin Cities Orthopedics Stillwater

Twin Cities Orthopedics once again engaged the RJM healthcare team to replace their existing clinic and expand services to a new location in Stillwater.

This new location features orthopedic sports medicine and an athletic training gym space, orthopedic clinic exam spaces, hand therapy, physical therapy, X-ray, and MRI. At this location TCO also offers walk-in orthopedic urgent care,

The new facility is a two-story architectural precast building with structural steel frame and composite floor slab. The exterior includes metal panels and curtainwall in addition to the architectural precast. The project included development of the entire site, parking lot, and utilities.

The unique sports performance amenities include 8,000 sf of athletic turf and training space, incline ramp, batting cage, basketball court, and weight room.

This new facility makes the Stillwater area an "premier destination for worldclass orthopedic care, rehabilitation, and athletic performance."
